Risk Management

Key Notes

There are lots of risks on this expedition, we do risky things because we can manage that risk.

Sickness is going to be the most likely thing to ruin someone's expedition, and we will need everyone to cooperate with what we have in place to manage this.

It is now time to arrange your own vaccinations and speak to your own practice or book an appointment with an independent travel clinic to get on top of this early. Our leader are not allowed to advise you on vaccinations. We can only provide you with info to share with medical experts. Please use the information on where we will be and what we are doing to get the right medical advice.

Anti-malaria medication is on the kit list because that is a non-negotiable.
